BISBEE NEWS.
Daily Happenings at the Great Copper Camp.

Budget of interesting items from our Regular Correspondent.

Bisbee, Oct. 21, 1896.
COPPERINGS.
A. Wentworth finished his business here and returned to Tombstone this morning.
Andy Smith also returned to the county seat today after a visit of several days.
Chas. Blackburn, one of our leading business men, also returned from a short business trip this evening.
Mr. Jones returned this evening from a short trip on business connected with his mine. He reports everything favorable in their vicinity.
J. B. O'Reilly returned from his trip east this evening after an absence of about six weeks. Joe did not enjoy the trip as he otherwise would have done owing to the illness of his only sister. He has the satisfaction of knowing that she is on the road to recovery, though, and is well satisfied to be at the old stand again.
The Woodmen Circle held a very enjoyable meeting last evening and quite a large number were in attendance. After the regular business of the evening was disposed of a recess was taken for refreshments consisting of coffee, cake, etc., which proved to be a very pleasing divergence. The ladies are determined to make their lodge a success, and they evidently will from the way they started out last evening.

The Democrat today prints some more of their "gabble" in which they refer to us as a "paid representative of Mark Hanna." We are getting so used to their badgering that we wish to remind the editor that every one in this country is not a hireling just because the howling head of the Bisbee Democrat is subsidized to blow his horn to the tune of "God-like Smith" until the campaign is over. We would talk about pay if we were in his boots.

An amusing incident has leaked out from one of the faithful on the much respected Judge Reilly. It runs as follows: During his recent campaign trip here the judge made it a point to talk to as many of the voters individually as possible in order to convince them of the error of some candidates ways as well as of his own sterling worth. On one of his trips down town for this purpose, Mr. Reilly entered into conversation with a gentleman of rather prepossessing appearance. The man's talk was also strong and forcible, and the judge immediately concluded that he had struck a Democratic boss and started in to convert him, hoping to gather in a whole school of fish at one swoop. He talked continuously for exactly 47 minutes by the watch at which time he paused for breath thereby giving his victim time to get in a few words. The unfortunate immediately took advantage of the occasion and assured the judge that he was all right, but suggested that a new pair of pants would improve his appearance on the stump quite a bit as his old ones were somewhat baggy at the knees. The judge was somewhat shocked at this apparent disrespect, but recovered himself sufficiently to ask the gentleman where his place of business was, when he found out to his dismay that the man was a O. League drummer who had only been in Arizona 10 days, had never voted here and didn't owe a friend in town. Mr. Reilly immediately bid the gentleman good day and left for his room, inwardly cursing his luck and lamenting his lost hour.
